

Here are some symptoms you may experience with a UTI

- Needing to pee more frequently, suddenly, or more urgently than usual
- Pain or a burning sensation when peeing
- Needing to pee at night more often than usual
- New pain in the lower tummy
- New incontinence or wetting yourself that is worse than usual
- Kidney pain or pain in the lower back

- Blood in the pee
- Changes in behaviour, such as acting agitated or confused (delirium). This could be a symptom of a UTI but could also be due to other causes, which need to be ruled out
- General signs of infection, like a fever, a high temperature or feeling hot and shivery, with shaking (rigors) or chills
- A very low temperature below 36°C

You may experience fewer of these symptoms if you have a urinary catheter

If you have frequent UTIs, please talk to a healthcare professional about treatment options
